This is a GUY thing all the way. What guy wouldn't love racetrack black and white and cars? Amaze him with your embroidery on Toilet Paper.

Fix a basket using the paper, towel and some car shaped soap and you will be the hit of the day. Better than a t-shirt or funky tie any day!

Hoop a piece of Floriani no show mesh stabilizer. This stabilizer is really nice for this project as it is light and see-through.

Open the toilet paper and tear off about 10 squares. This gives you space to work. Center the middle square in the hoop. Use just a bit of spray adhesive to keep it in place. (Cut a square hole out of paper and place over hoop before you spray to protect the hoop).

Embroider your design onto the paper. These car designs are perfect as they have a low stitch count.

GENTLY remove the stabilizer and paper from the hoop. Now using a rotary cutter cut the stabilizer off even with the square of paper.

Center the embroidered design on the paper. Roll the excess to the back and roll one square back to form a folded edge. Overlap that edge over one square and pin in place.

Looks nice just like this...but to make is even more special add a bit of ribbon or trim to the top and bottom. If you want a bit of scent...use a small bit potpourri placed in netting and put inside center cone.
